Heritage Assessment 1121 Eighth Avenue New Westminster, BC

November 2021

Introduction

The subject building is a single-family house located at 1121 Eighth Avenue in New Westminster, British Columbia. It has been evaluated in an objective manner to determine if it has heritage value. There are two types of documents that discuss the heritage value of a building: a Heritage Assessment and a Statement of Significance. A Heritage Assessment is a high-level evaluation to determine if a building has heritage value, while a Statement of Significance (SOS) is based on heritage value being already determined and identifies the details of that heritage value.

The heritage value of a place is determined by assessing if it has aesthetic, cultural, historic, scientific, social and/or spiritual importance or significance for past, present and future generations (using the Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada ¹). If present, these values would be embodied by character-defining elements typically identified as materials, forms, location, spatial configurations, uses and cultural associations or meanings. This document is an assessment and therefore does not go into the level of detail of an SOS, but it will make general statements regarding heritage value and character-defining elements.

An in-person site visit was made on November 13, 2021, during which photographs of the house were taken and the overall condition of the house was assessed. In-person research at the library and the Archives was not conducted given the Pandemic; however, online research has been carried out.

Context

The property has the following site physical characteristics:

 Site Area:
 607 sqm (6,539 sq ft)
 Floor Space Ratio: 0.171

 Frontage:
 15.33 m (50.30 ft)
 Site Coverage: 10.79%

Average Depth: 39.62 m (129.99 ft)

The property is zoned Single-Family Residential (NR-1), the intent of which is to "to allow single detached dwellings, secondary suites, and laneway or carriage houses in the West End, Kelvin and Connaught neighbourhoods."²

¹ The Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada, Second Edition, 2010. p. 5.

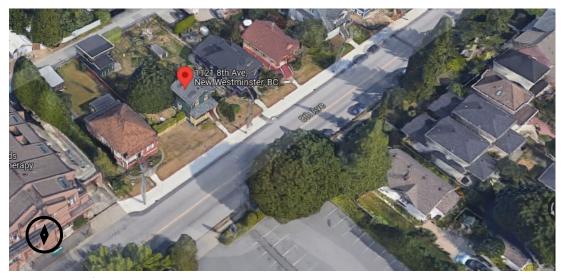

² City of New Westminster Zoning Bylaw, Section 320.

The property is identified in the Official Community Plan as (RD) Residential – Detached and Semi-Detached Housing, the purpose of which is: "to allow low density ground oriented residential uses including gentle infill which increases housing choice and retains existing neighbourhood character."³ For more details on the expectations for this Zoning category and the OCP designation, please consult with the City's Planning Division.

The property is located in the West End neighbourhood, on the north⁴ side of Eighth Avenue, near the corner of Eighth Avenue and Twelfth Street. To either side of the street are other single-family houses that were constructed in various time periods, ranging from 1893 to 2020.

The Building

The building, according to the City's Development Site Report, was constructed in 1909 for Margaret Callow. The style is Gabled Vernacular⁵, which was popular between about 1886 and 1915 in the Lower Mainland. The subject building has the following typical characteristics of this style:

- 2-storey square massing
- Front-gabled roof (with bellcast eaves)
- Main floor is ½ storey above the ground
- Full-width front porch with shallow hipped roof
- Narrow lap siding, with a pronounced channel
- Front door set on one side (to line up with the front stairs)
- Few decorative elements

The house differs from the typical style characteristics by not having a roof skirt across the bottom of the gable, by having a medium-pitch rather than a steeply pitched roof, and by having front porch posts which are square rather than round Tuscan-style.

The front elevation is asymmetrical, with the front door on the right side and accessed by wood stairs that are directly in front of it. The front door is a two-panel wood door with a set up triple lights on the upper panel, typical during the period 1911-1931⁶ in North America. There are three windows on the front elevation: a large picture window with a stained-glass transom adjacent to the front door, and two vertical single-hung matching windows on the second storey. The picture window is typical cottage window for the period 1904-1912⁷ in North America.

There are few windows on the side elevations. On the east elevation, there is only one vertical single-hung window on the upper level. On the west elevation, there are two vertical single-hung windows.

The rear elevation has a covered porch at-grade supported by three plain and square wooden posts. The roof of this porch is shallow and extends from a roof that also covers a one-storey addition. There are two windows on the upper storey that match those on the front elevation. There is a similar-style vertical window on the lower level and a small horizontal window adjacent to the back door.

⁷ Ibid, p. 359.

Most all of the windows appear to be original, with wood frames, casings, and sills. Most of the meeting rails in the windows have horns.

The house is clad, as noted above, in channelled lap wood siding. It has a wood belt course, indicating the level at which the first floor sits. There are corner boards and vergeboards, also all wood. The roof is a medium, front facing gable with bellcast eaves.

According to City records, the house underwent substantial renovations in 2009, during which the front porch was rebuilt, a new rear deck was added, and the main floor, including a bathroom, were renovated. Additionally, that year, a new detached, double carport was constructed in the rear of the property and accessed from the rear lane.

The building is sited towards the front of the property and close to the side property line. The side yard is fenced from the front and has a row of mature shrubs which gives the yard privacy from the street. There is a large, mature Maple tree beside the house.

Heritage Value and Evaluation

Heritage Value

First Owner/Developer

City documents show that the house is attributed to Margaret Callow.

Between the year the house was constructed (1909) and 1955 (the last year the Directories are available on-line), there was only one family that owned the house, the Callow Family.

Margaret Callow (nee Cottier, 1839 – 1915) is identified as the "developer", which means that she had the house built. She was married to Thomas, who passed away at some point before 19098. Both of them were from the Isle of Man. Together, Margaret and Thomas had four children: Charles, Edward, Julia and another daughter (Mrs. E. Richardson of Edson, Alberta in 1941)9.

Charles Callow was born in Toronto in 1874. He came to British Columbia in 1906 at the age of 32 and moved to New Westminster in 1910. According to the on-line Directories, his occupation was as a labourer. According to his death certificate, he last worked in 1940. Beside: "Kind of Industry or Business", is written the term: "Relief". He died in 1941 at the age of 66.

⁸ No on-line records could be found for Thomas Callow.

⁹ See Charles' death certificate, NWMA, Item # 59.

Edward Callow was born in Winnipeg in 1878. He came to British Columbia in 1904 at the age of 26 and moved to New Westminster in 1907. According to the on-line Directories, his occupation was as a labourer, and according to his death certificate, he worked in the brick laying industry. He died in 1952 at the age of 73.

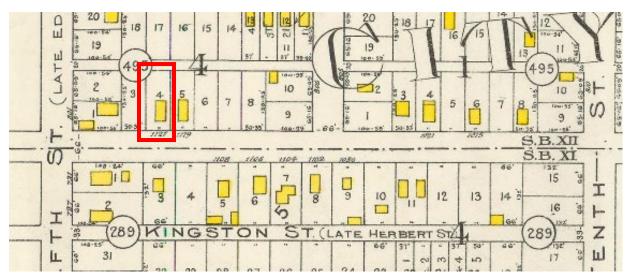

Julia Callow is listed in the on-line Directories as living in the house during the time period 1911 – 1955+, but no occupation is listed for her. It appears she did not marry, as she is often listed as "Miss". There are no on-line vital statistic documents for her.

A search was made of the New Westminster Museum and Archives, the City of Vancouver Archives, the City of Burnaby Archives and the Vancouver Public Library for historic photographs of the family and of the house, but none were found.

In order to discover if there is more information about any of these people, more time than is available for the writing of a Heritage Assessment would be required.

Historic Map

The subject house is evident on Plate 116 of Goad's Atlas of the City of New Westminster, published in 1913. The excerpt below shows the house, with its correct and current address, along with the next-door house at 1119 Eighth Avenue.

Excerpt of Goad's Atlas of the City of New Westminster, 1913, Plate 116

Heritage Value – Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada

The heritage value of the subject house has been assessed based on possible aesthetic, historic/cultural, scientific, social and/or spiritual importance or significance for past, present and future generations, as per the "Standards and Guidelines". See the definitions of these values in Appendix A. As noted above, a more in-depth study and listing of values, if present, would form part of a Statement of Significance. For this Heritage Assessment, the following summary is provided.

The house is not listed on either the Heritage Inventory or the Heritage Register, nor is it formally protected with any form of heritage bylaw.

The house has historic value for its age (1909) and aesthetic value for its Gabled Vernacular style, in particular for retaining such character-defining elements as its overall form and massing, its gabled roof with bellcast eaves and vergeboards, wood lap siding, original wood windows, and front porch with posts and wood balustrade (even though this is recent, it likely replicates or is very close to what was there originally). Also of value is that there was one family that owned the property from 1909 through at least 1955.

There is social value for its contribution to the community's sense of identity and scientific value for its contribution to the understanding and/or appreciation of the time when the house was constructed, especially given that the house is situated on a busy street near an important intersection. There is no known spiritual value associated with the structure, but to determine if there is spiritual value associated with it or with the land upon which it sits would require consultation with First Nations and other cultural groups.

Conclusion

After assessing the heritage value of the building, it is the recommendation of this heritage professional that the property has considerable heritage value. It has retained its original design and character-defining elements and was well maintained over the years, (however at present, the condition of the house is declining). It is a strong candidate for retention through a Heritage Revitalization Agreement (HRA). Given that the house has a small footprint and is located in the front corner of the property, it should be possible to construct a new house beside it, utilizing an HRA that could allow for more density on this site than what is permissible outright. There may even be room for a small carriage house behind both the subject house and a possible new infill house, which would be in keeping with the Official Community Plan designation. The size of the lot, its location near public transit, the existence of a rear lane, and the siting of the house in the front corner of the property, all combine to create redevelopment possibilities that would benefit both the owner and community.

Appendix A: Definitions

The following definitions of heritage value are quoted directly from the "Canadian Register of Historic Places: Writing Statements of Significance" guide:

Aesthetic value refers to the sensory qualities of a historic place (seeing, hearing, touching, smelling and tasting) in the context of broader categories of design and tradition. A place may have aesthetic significance because it evokes a positive sensory response, or because it epitomizes a defined architectural style or landscape concept. Visual aesthetic value is typically expressed through form, colour, texture or materials. It is possible for historic places to have other aesthetic values as well, such as auditory ones. Historic places with aesthetic significance may reflect a particular style or period of construction or craftsmanship, or represent the work of a well-known architect, planner, engineer or builder.

Historical and cultural values are sometimes combined and refer to the associations that a place has with past events and historical themes, as well as its capacity to evoke a way of life or a memory of the past. Historical or cultural value may lie in the age of a heritage district, its association with important events, activities, people or traditions; its role in the development of a community, region, province, territory or nation; or its patterns of use. Historical or cultural value can lie in natural or ecological features of the place, as well as in built features.

Scientific value refers to the capacity of a historic place to provide evidence that can advance our understanding and appreciation of a culture. The evidence is found in the form, materials, design and/or experience of the place. Scientific value can derive from various factors, such as age, quality, completeness, complexity or rarity. Scientific value may also be present when the place itself supplements other types of evidence such as written sources, such as in archaeological sites.

Social value considers the meanings attached to a place by a community in the present time. It differs from historical or cultural value in that the value may not have an obvious basis in history or tradition and relates almost entirely to the present time. Social value may be ascribed to places that perform a key role within communities, support community activities or traditions, or contribute to the community's sense of identity. Places with social value include sites that bring the community together and create a sense of shared identity and belonging.

Spiritual value is ascribed to places with religious or spiritual meanings for a community or a group of people. Sacred and spiritual places could include places of mythological significance, landscape features associated with myth and legends, burial sites, rock cairns and alignments, fasting/vision quest sites etc., places representing particular belief system(s) or places associated with sacred traditions, ceremonial practices or rituals of a community/group of people.¹⁰

Gabled Vernacular

Form

The most common surviving houses of old Vancouver, Gabled Vernaculars are 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 stories tall with front-gabled roofs; the roof may have a skirt across the bottom of the gable. In this style, the house is usually set a half to a full storey above the ground (due to the basement space required for central heating). Its full-width front porch commonly has a hipped roof held up by posts (typically round Tuscanstyle). The front door is almost always set on one side of the facade in line with the front stairs and there may be a bay window on one side of the porch, sometimes repeated on the upper storey. Dormers may be hipped or gabled. Examples of the style usually have very few decorative elements such as brackets and fretwork.

Background

The Gabled Vernacular style drew on several popular styles, adapted them for simpler homes for everyday living in the late 19th – early 20th century. Following the rise of the Greek revival movement in the 19th century, gable-fronted houses became more common, with designs that echoed the pediments of ancient Greek temples. This style gained popularity for American homes between 1830 and 1850. Prefabricated houses like many of the BC Mills houses and mail-order plans made the style easy to access. Gabled Vernacular homes were common in Vancouver since their narrow two-storey form made front-gabled houses well suited for urban lots. Today, the style is one of the most common historical house styles left in the city.

Details

- Steeply pitched, front-gabled roof
- Often roof skirt across bottom of gable
- Usually 2 to 2-1/2 storey
- Full-width porch
- Set a half- to full-storey above ground
- Few decorative elements
- Drop siding or narrow lap siding, sometimes shingles

Materials

Gabled Vernacular roofs were usually made of cedar shingles. Siding was usually drop siding with a pronounced channel or concave cove shape at the top of the board.
